WRANGLE OVER
SOLDIER RELIEF
LAWS IN HOUSEMembers of Ways and Means Committee Have Big Row.CHARGE BILL IS SENT TO COMMITTEE FOR BURIALLegion Head Says Soldiers
Only Want Financial Relief.

Washington, March 2.—Taking up for the first time the whole question of soldier relief legislation, the house ways and means committee got into a row today over procedure and broke up in some confusion after members had repeated charges made in the house or the measures had been sent to the committee for burial.

After many heated exchanges between members the committee ordered the room cleared of the crowd of spectators and then in executive session finally decided to continue hearing tomorrow.

Before the sudden termination of the session Franklin Olier, national commander of the American Legion, and Thomas W. Miller, chairman of the national executive committee presented briefly an outline of what the organization sought from congress. Both declared service men were not asking for a bonus and Miller asserted that 3,000,000 soldiers, directly affected were closely watching consideration of the matter of readjustment compensation.

Franklin D. Olier, national commander of the American Legion, outlining to the house ways and means committee today the organization demands for soldier relief legislation, declared it wanted no bonus, but assistance for former service men in overcoming present "financial disadvantages."

All the legion asks, he told the committee, "is as liberal treatment as is consistent with the welfare of the whole country."

An overwhelming majority of ex-service men feel strongly that this government owes an obligation to all persons who have been in the service, and financially, the national commander declared, adding that disabled men wanted relief legislation to the end that they would no longer be objects of private charity.

Recommendations for legislation were presented as follows:

Land settlements covering farms in all states; aid to encourage purchases of homes; vocational training and adjustment; compensation based on length of service for those not desiring to avail themselves of the other three features.

"The American Legion," Mr. Olier said, asks nothing in its selfish interest at the expense of the country, but at the same time does not feel that this obligation to ex-service men and women should be altogether passed by at this time and all economizing done at the expense of the ex-service man.

"If legislation is wisely framed covering land settlement, home aid and vocational training, every dollar invested by the government will bring ultimately great returns to the country by the ex-service man, a better citizen and greater producer."

More than 50 bills relating to bonuses were before the committee when it began hearings on the whole question of soldier relief.

FIND MAN IN HOME

Hillsboro, March 2.—The body of James Gocherman, aged 67, was found today in his home here. He is thought to have been dead since Thanksgiving last year.

Gocherman, who is said to have been wealthy, was supposed by relatives who live in Clinton county, to have left Thanksgiving day to visit relatives in Illinois. As they had heard nothing from him since that day they started an investigation yesterday and found he had never reached Illinois. They then located his badly decomposed body lying upon a couch in his home, a revolver in his hand.

In a number of cases money came by mail without giving the identity of the contributor.

The associated churches would adopt the title "The United Churches of Christ in America."

COUNCIL ADOPTS DAYLIGHT SAVING
PLAN FOR CITY DURING SUMMER

Ordinance Is Passed By Vote of Seven to Two—Many Citizens Appear Before Council In Support of Proposed Change In Time Used.

Newark officially has adopted eastern time for a period of 6 months, and beginning at midnight Sunday, March 28, and continuing until the same time on the last Sunday in October, what has been known as the daylight saving time, will be in effect, not only this year but in years to follow until the ordinance is repealed. This was determined at the council meeting last night when an ordinance to that effect was introduced by Councilman S. O. Riggs and passed by a vote of seven to two, Messrs. Bazler, Faust, Knauber, Keyes, Redman, Riggs and Wolverton voting in its favor and Messrs. Baker and Gearhart in the negative.

The council chamber was well filled with interesting spectators, a large majority of whom were present in the interest of the extra daylight hour. President H. H. Scott called the council to order at 7:30 o'clock but owing to the large volume of business it was 10 o'clock before any adjournment was made. All councilmen were present and the first business transacted after Clerk George H. Hamilton had read the minutes of the previous meeting was the report of the special committee to confer with officials of the Ohio Power company relative to smoke and cinder complaints made by residents of the vicinity where the plant of the company is located to council members and which was as follows:

"We visited the plant with the manager of the company, Mr. E. T. Waghals, were shown through the plant and given an explanation of all the equipment there, our attention being particularly called to a piece of machinery or device called a Dutch oven stoker which is in course of erection and expected to be finished by the middle of March. This patent stoker is the very latest improvement and promises to be a great improvement."

The residents of or in the cinder zone have a just complaint but we hope they will allow the company to try out this new equipment before any action is taken. If all factories in Newark used steam power instead of electricity smoke and cinders would be all over Newark.

The report was received and filed and the law committee reported on the East street complaint regarding the flooding of the sidewalks and street, stating that the fact was with the city, the committee recommending the installation of a catch basin and the laying of about 180 feet of six or eight inch sewer pipe in the east end of East street to connect with the private sewer of the Ohio Power company which empties into the creek, permission having been granted the city for a free right of way on the company's grounds for laying of the sewer and also permission to tap the private sewer connections.

Mayor H. A. Aldrich's report for the month of February showed that he had collected $102.50 in license fees which had been turned over to the city treasurer.

City Auditor Cliff Fry certified that there would be a deficit in the safety fund for the ensuing year of $42,000 and $2,000 in the service department.

Solicitor H. C. Ashcraft reported that an equitable adjustment had been made with the B. & O. Railroad company regarding the lighting of crossings and that the city would be held blameless when the lights were out. Solicitor Ashcraft has been confined to his home for some time and hopes to make a more detailed explanation when he is able to attend the next council meeting.

City Engineer C. W. Wells reported that the total estimate of the cost of constructing the Anderson Court sewer was $136,600, of which the city would be assessed $16,600.

A petition was received from Miss Cora Crouse, requesting permission to connect a sewer on her property with the Locust street sewer and the matter was referred to the service director.

A petition from property owners in Ridge avenue asked for the construction of a sewer between Cedar and Essex streets. It was referred to the street committee.

Twelve property owners in Webb avenue asked for the construction of a brick pavement between East Main and Washington streets. This was also referred to the street committee.

A communication from the office of the auditor of state approved an appropriation ordinance recently passed by the city council from Allen W. Freeman, commissioner of health of Ohio, stating that the plans of Messrs. E. G. Bradbury and F. A. Barbour, consulting engineers, for a proposed water purification plant for Newark.

SCOUTMASTERS FORM
ORGANIZATION IN CITY

Newark scoutmasters and assistants last night formed a permanent organization to take the place of the temporary one which has been holding monthly meetings since last fall.

The organization will be known as the Newark Scoutmasters' association. At a meeting held at the Martin cottage near Stadden's bridge last night a constitution was adopted and officers elected. The new officers are: Clarence E. Jones, president; F. A. Woolson, vice president; Clarence Robinson, secretary; H. D. Doane, treasurer. All scoutmasters, assistants, troop committeemen or members of the Newark scout council are eligible to membership. The dues are $1 per year.

The organization voted to hold monthly meetings on the second Monday of each month. Instruction in scout work and discussion of problems will mark the meetings which will be largely social in nature.

At last night's meeting Scout Executive K. J. Brown gave a talk on tracking and gave a demonstration of scout work. Through the courtesy of Attorney Ray Martin, the men had the use of his cottage. Two boys of Troop 6 prepared and served the refreshments.

KEEP WATCH ON GASOLINE PUMP

Pointers Given to Motorists by National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

CONSERVE FUEL AND MONEY

Twelve Excellent Rules Formulated for Benefit of Owners—Short Delivery Is Likely If Details Are Overlooked.

Points for motorists to remember when purchasing gasoline have been formulated by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, with a view to conserving gas and saving money for the car owners. He is advised as follows:

1. Urge your dealer to make a daily test of the accuracy of his gasoline measuring pump with a standard five-gallon measure.

2. On pumps making one-gallon delivery, see that the pump operator makes a full stroke and that the piston travels its full length.

Watch Indicating Device.

3. Watch the counter or indicating device on all pumps provided therewith.

4. See that the operator drains the delivery hose.

5. On pumps provided with graduated glass-cylinders, see that the gasoline reaches the proper graduation.

6. Beware of the filling stations where the delivery is outside and the pump inside the building.

7. Operators should willingly test pumps in the presence of the autoist with the five-gallon standard measure sealed by the local inspector of weights and measures.

8. Short delivery gasoline is sometimes caused by leaks in the supply line to the pump. This condition causes the pump to deliver air instead of gasoline and can be detected by the sputtering sound.

9. If the gasoline is low in the supply tank, short delivery is likely to result. This can be detected by the irregular flow of gasoline and the sputtering sound. Such a condition is frequently encountered where portable filling tanks are used.

First Delivery Short.

10. The first delivery made by a pump after it has been standing idle for some time is invariably short. This is caused by the gasoline already in the measuring chamber leaking back into the dealer's supply tank through a leaky check valve.

11. View with suspicion a gasoline delivery hose attached to a well in the curb. It is impossible to properly drain a hose so installed, and adequate measure cannot be obtained unless this is done.

12. In rare cases pumps may be deliberately manipulated to deliver short amounts through the changing of measuring adjustments.

ARE YOU A "GOWAG?"

The suggestion is made that every motorist become a "go-wag." The word is coined to remind the motorist of the five things he should always watch if he would avoid trouble in keeping his car running. A "go-wag" lives up to his name by remembering:

G stands for gasoline; always have a sufficient fuel supply.

O for oil; plenty of it and the right kind.

W for water; even motors
have a terrible thirst.

A for air; tires must be inflated to the correct pressure.

G (final) for grease; give those grease cups the turns required. And don't forget the springs.

VALUE OF WEATHER REPORTS

New Service Proving of Much Benefit to Automobile Owners Where It Has Been Tried.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The highway weather service, one of the new enterprises of the United States department of agriculture operated through the organization of the weather bureau, is proving of benefit to automobile owners where it has been tried. The meteorologist in charge of the weather bureau office in Kansas City, Mo., recently reported:

"The demand for a road reporting service is quite general and insistent and it will continue so, increasingly until dirt roads become an anachronism. This office established a road or highway reporting service April 1 of this year and, without exaggeration it is equal to the most practical service which our office otherwise can perform. It amounts to the direction of public motor travel, and person-start or postpone trips as we advise."

The highway weather service was begun as a war measure in aid of motor transportation and was conducted with emergency money until the end of the war. Though congress made no appropriation for its continuance during the present fiscal year the demand for it was such that the department is endeavoring to continue it without special funds to meet the expense.

UNITED STATES ARMY builder of MEN

TEN years ago it was necessary for the United States Army to argue men into its ranks.

But, today the Army like every other great university, points with pride to its graduates.

Four million of the nation's choicest young men were entrusted to the Army's care.

MOST of them are back in the ranks of industry today; and every parent in America, every employer, every teacher knows that they are better, abler men for their experience.

They stand straight upon their feet, a symbol of physical fitness.

They have learned how to execute orders, and how to give them.

THERE is, in their characters, a maturity beyond their years, a vision and a self-confidence that are fundamentals of success.

The months that they gave to the Army were not lost months; the records of the future will show more rapid progress for them because of the qualities which those months developed.

THE United States Army is open for enlistments today. It wants no inferior applicants; it seeks young men of character and purpose; and it promises those young men that the term of their enlistment will be fruitful years.

They will come back to civil life
in perfect health—their muscles, their eyes, their bearing all evidencing the finest professional care.

IT IS the purpose of the War Department to develop in the American soldier those qualities which are the essentials to success in any trade or business and are the prime requisites in an American citizen.

Congress has appropriated $2,000,000.00 to be used in Educational work in the Army Schools. In many camps and posts men are being trained in the skilled trades and at practically all Army stations, schools are in operation in which the soldier can improve his education.

Through enlistment the United States Army offers opportunities to travel. It provides good food, good clothes and good care. It gives a training which brings health—physical development—mental quickness and self-confidence. It sends you back to civil life better equipped for American citizenship than when you enlisted.

BUELAH
The Beautiful Blonde Button-Maker.
(By Willie Getit.)
Chapter X.
Ah, Liz, thou wert a noble steed. If gasoline thou didst not need. Gentle readers, if any, honesty compels us to admit that the language at the clothes of Chap. 9, where we left our stalwart hero cranking his magnificent car, is unfit to print.
Finely, his strength and languid both exhausted, Harold discovered to his dismay, that he needs must refill his tank up again.
"Fly, my hero," cried Buelah. "Our arch enemy is regaining his census again."
"Courage, fare one," cried Harold, snatching a tin cup and speeding across the street to the filling station.
Scarce had the echo of his foot-steps died away than the villainous spy emerged from the door of the shop.
"Hah! My beauty, your lover has the papers, but you shall not escape me now," snarled he, dragging her from the limousine by her curls.
"Unhand me, villain," screamed Buelah, smiting her pearly teeth into his rough palm.
With a howl of rage the butcher sprang back, just as our hero strode into view, baring aloft the tin-cup of best-grade gasoline.
Hastily starting his costly car, Harold assisted the frightened Buelah into clothing and lodging furnished.—Minneapolis Journal.

COUNTY LIBRARY WORK.
A fine example of what can be done to furnish modern library and reading facilities, to people living in remote rural villages is given in Washington county, Maryland. For the past 20 years books have been distributed throughout the county from a central library located at Hagerstown, the county seat town, to about 75 branch libraries located about the county.
Since 1915 books have been distributed by a motor truck carrying 500 books, besides small libraries for schools. Each route in the county has usually been visited twice a year. Every family is given the chance to take 20 to 30 books, for a six months period.
In this way the most remote village is placed in touch with the latest and best books. The expense has varied from $500.00 to $900.00 a year. The benefits far outweigh the small costs, and help make country life attractive. This plan would be a fine thing for the remote sections of Licking county.

ADMIRAL PEARY.
One of the most notable figures of American life passed on a few days ago, when the death of Rear Admiral Robert Peary took place. Achievement is the key-note of American personality, and Admiral Peary carried this spirit of America to the top of the world, where no human being had previously penetrated. Into the grim and terrific silence of the icy north.
It was a wonderful triumph, made possible only by heroic endurance of hardship and danger, by the most thorough and efficient science, and by adaptation of human skill and inventiveness to a seemingly impossible problem. America honors the man who at last achieved what generations of explorers had called impossible.

The census shows New York to be the biggest city in the world, and New Yorkers who have not been able to accomplish anything in the world take much pride from that fact.

It is denied that people lack determination nowadays, as they are firmly resolved not to work too hard.

If the League of Nations acquires as much power as the Anti-Saloon League, it will do pretty well.

Pointed Observations
How long will it be before we shall know which won the war, the President or Senator Lodge?—Boston Globe

Perhaps it is worth while recalling Adam's attitude toward water. You remember that when it was up to him to name the first river he called it Pison.—New York Evening Post.

The male teachers of the Pittsburgh schools "with devilish ingenuity," have asked the school board to give them "army pay," $22 a month with board.

Who remembers when it was no disgrace to be poor? Too many speakers spoil the banquet.

Married Strangers

A powerful story dealing with a problem being worked out in thousands of American homes to-day—that of the husband and wife who find they grow apart while the men was off to war.

LXXXVI.—The Belated Introduction.
There was no escape. The introduction had to be made. Keitha made the presentation in a low voice, trusting that she had sufficiently blurred the name "Holmes" to escape detection.
But she had not counted on the French girl's native curiosity.
"Your name, I did not catch," the latter said, smiling charmingly at Marcia, as she offered her hand in American fashion.
"I am Marcia Holmes," said Marcia quietly, taking the proffered hand with a faint smile.
"Holmes!" echoed the French girl, incredulously.
Keitha's heart sank.
She glanced hurriedly at Bennett, but he was blowing smoke rings idly. However, she saw his lips move slightly and out of one corner of his mouth came the whisper:
"Now there'll be hell to pay."
"Holmes!" repeated Mlle. Forrester, with rising excitement. "Can it be that you are one of the family of my fiancé?"
"I doubt it," Marcia smiled at the girl's eagerness. "My family is very small. What is the name of your fiancé?"
"Tasker Bland Holmes," returned the girl promptly and proudly.
Keitha, who had moved to Marcia's side, felt her slight recoil.
Her fingers closed around Marcia's arm warningly, though she knew it was needless. Marcia was a thoroughbred. She could count on Marcia. It was the excitable French girl they must fear.
"Your fiancé is not of my family," replied Marcia steadily. "You are—looking for him?"
"Mais oui," returned the girl frankly. "I have come all the way to America to find him and he is not here," she ended with a despairing little gesture, more eloquent than her words.
"But, Louise, he will help me find him, will he not?" she added softly, laying her hand on Bennett's arm.
"I'll do all I can," he promised, tossing away his cigarette and facing her squarely, but I—er—that is, I'm going away for a while, Marguerite.
By the astonishment in the French girl's dark eyes, Keitha knew that it was the first intimation she had received of the forthcoming trip to Hawaii.
"You are going away?" repeated the girl incredulously. "And just when I need you so very much." You said I had only to command—
"Yes, yes," replied Bennett hastily. "but this is a business trip to Hawaii. Keitha—Mrs. Bennett and I are going—"
"Oh, Hawaii. Hawaii is not far," Mlle. Forrester snapped her fingers. "I will come to Hawaii."
Keitha listened with a sinking heart. Was all her sacrifice to be in vain? Would there always be some link to bind her husband to his past? Could she find no small corner of this big world where they might start with a clean slate, unmolested?
"When do you go?" asked the French girl.
"Tomorrow," returned Bennett lightly.
"And you said?" with business-like directness.
"On the Ecuador, Saturday."
"So soon? What haste you Americans have. But I will sail also," she added without a moment's hesitation.
She did not so much as glance at Keitha, but Bennett did. He found his young wife's face unreadable. With her arm linked in Marcia's, she was staring out over the Pacific at the long swell of the indolent waves in the moonlight. Her face was as white and immobile as Marcia's own.
"What an impetuous little soul you are," he said lightly to Mlle. Forrester, forcing an easy smile. "Did you come to America on such a sudden decision?"
"I know very well what I want—always. And I get it. Do I fail?"
"Jama!s!" she laughed with a shrug of her slim shoulders.
"That's a good formula for success," answered Bennett, judiciously.
The French girl frowned and tapped the sand with her high-heeled slipper, impatiently.
"You will see that I sail on Saturday on the—what do you call the boat?"
Bennett lit another cigarette with elaborate care.
"Sorry, Marguerite, but you'll have to wait until another boat, the Ecuador is booked solid."
A sudden tense exultation swept through Keitha. She knew that reservations could still be made on the Ecuador—they had made inquiry that very day in the hope of beguiling Marcia to come with them.
It was obvious that Bennett did not want the French girl to accompany them.

Birds of Prey Never Sing
(If Alton Crop Improvement Service.)
"Music is an expression of a state of mind. Expression is the outgiving of a mind which overflows. The happy and contented man always whistles or sings. The burglar, the holdup man, the pick-pocket, has nothing to express in terms of music or other art. A sneak is naturally inaudible. The man with a merry laugh and a rollicking song is a general favorite."
"It is said that there is not a single bird of prey or a carrion bird which sings except to emit raucous sounds. He has no poetry in his soul. He screams defiance or anger but he never sings."
"In the late roundup of irresponsible radicals in the New York district, not one person who was arrested was the owner of a musical instrument. Bitterness is not expressed in music," says Mr. Frank Baackes, V. P. American Steel & Wire company.
"I have attended hundreds of conventions in my time and I have noted that those who have the greatest appreciation of music—who open their conferences with song—generally get the most work done in the most harmonious manner. It might be well perhaps to supplement the Congressional prayer with a Glee Club and it sure would wake up some of those dry bones if they were asked to sing the popular songs of the day."
"Perhaps if they would set the debate to music, something might be accomplished. At least we would know when the end of the time arrived."
"What would our churches be without music?"
"As I have said, music is a state of mind and the man who hath no music in himself, nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils!"

SPRING SUITS ARE STYLED SANELY AND SAFELY

THAT is one distinguishing characteristic of the season—and a most comforting one, to us as well as to you. Reviewing our collection quite critically, we cannot pick a solitary model that you are likely to consider out-of-style after this year.

The suits we have here stand for patient choosing and a keen concept of fashion's movement.

But, more than picking good materials, good tailoring, good models, they show, too, that cash-buying helps to keep prices down to the levels of reason.

In two paragraphs you have all the reasons why you should buy your spring suit here—no fashion patter or descriptive cataloging could make it stronger, more sincere, or more to the point. We know we have the right styles and the right values—so will you when you see them.

ship was established in California many months ago, Miss Loos suggesting ideas and writing the stories with Mr. Emerson while he directed the productions. The earlier successes achieved by Douglas Fairbanks in motion pictures, and a few of his recent ones, were the joint work of these capable artists. Among these should be mentioned the Fairbanks photoplays, "His Picture in the Papers," "In Again, Out Again," "Wild and Woolly," "Down to Earth" and "Reaching for the Moon." Their next feature "Good-Bye Bill" comes to the Auditorium next Saturday.

Lina Cavalieri

Much of the story of her own career is reproduced in "A Woman of Impulse," the splendid Paramount photoplay starring Mme. Lina Cavalieri, the famous singer and beauty, which will be shown at the Alhambra theater tomorrow and Wednesday. This picture is said to provide the celebrated diva with a role far more dramatic and interesting than those she essayed in her recent picture successes, "The Eternal Temptress" and "Love's Conquest," which scored so notably in all parts of the country.

Mme. Cavalieri was a poor girl in Rome when the development of her rich vocal powers opened the door of fortune to her. Within a few years she became the idol of Europe and her beauty, as well as her remarkable voice,

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and gives relief.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it's pure and good.

Pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guarantee to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

By LOUIS K. ARNSPACHER
Screenplay by EVE UNCLE, Directed by EDWARD JOSE

THE PERIL OF BEING BEAUTIFUL!

Every man who has a beautiful wife should see Lina Cavalieri in "A Woman of Impulse." Never was the perpetual peril of beauty better illustrated. The green-eyed monster of Jealousy bestrides the husband's life, until he wishes he had married a girl whose beauty was of the soul rather than of the body.

This wonderful picture will give all married couples food for thought—to the single it is thick with hints of the dramatic deeps in life ahead of them.

life if confronted with the same circumstances. Women will appreciate this when they see the picture, and men will have a better understanding of a woman's character when they have viewed it. Experience.

Nubian slaves searching the African forests for the rarest and most perfect specimens of ivory never found anything half so beautiful, so gleaming and so brilliant, as the sparkling white teeth of Miss Maude (Gage Files) who plays Intoxication in "Experience" which F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest will present at the Auditorium on next Friday evening.

This girl, although cast for the role of Intoxication has never permitted alcohol to touch her pearly teeth, and as a result she is said to have the most perfect set known to the dental profession.

Attention was called to these remarkable teeth when the representative of a grape concern actually had the teeth examined by experts, and after not a single flaw had been found in any of the thirty-two ivories, offered the sum of $5,000 of the actress would sell her teeth outright to be used as a permanent exhibition of the value of a grape juice beverage. She refused.

"Imagine me using a set of false teeth at my age," declared the actress, indignantly. "I am not yet ready to enter the senile class. We have only one life to live and only one set of teeth to eat with, and I am going to hold on to the originals and not use store teeth."

Seats for Experience go on sale Wednesday. Mail orders are now being received.

Pollyanna.

Critics everywhere assert that "Pollyanna" is one of the greatest picture-plays ever filmed. The reason for this is that the philosophy upon which the story is based constituted a theme which at the present time has an unusually wide appeal. This production will be the feature at the Auditorium theater starting Sunday.

Undoubtedly Mary Pickford, with characteristic far-sightedness, had this in mind when she chose this celebrated work as her first vehicle for the United Artists' Corporation.

Good-Bye Bill!

John Emerson and Anita Loos, authors and producers of "Good-Bye Bill," who are making special productions for Paramount, are universally recognized as leaders in their line. Their partner-brave, resourceful, high-minded Irish stenographer, Vivian Martin, the beautiful Paramount star, appeared in her latest starring vehicle, "Jane Goes a-wooling" at the Alhambra theater yesterday. The picture made an instant and emphatic hit with the audience and every scene of the gripping story was watched with breathless interest.

"Jane Goes a-wooling" unfolds a story that has great love interest and the whimsical quality that one expects of Miss Martin's picture. In addition it has more real drama than most of her recent offerings and it should and doubtless will, prove one of her most successful vehicles.

"PLEASURE & YOUTH" IN "EXPERIENCE"

Miss Martin plays the part of Jane Nell, a courageous little girl who chews gum, and who takes dictation for a living. She has all the spunk of the best type of American business girl and she is loved by Mickey Donovan, who runs the "White House" lunch cart.

But Jane doesn't think she loves Mickey quite enough to marry him. When her father, who is somewhat of a vagabond, goes away and leaves the twins, her two younger sisters, in her care, Jane decides that she is quite able to take care of them. She obtains a position as stenographer to an eccentric old millionaire who is writing a play. There she meets Monty Lyman, the old man's relatives and heir, a handsome, unconscious gesture, perhaps a nervous twitch of the eyelid, often marks the genuine actress from the mere performer. And this holds true of all art. "But is there any rule you follow in the portrayal of minute details on the screen?" asked the interviewer.

"No," replied Miss Frederick promptly and firmly. "Each character has his or her own peculiar way of expressing emotions. And a screen or a stage artist's interpretation depends upon his intelligent understanding of the character he is portraying."

BEST WAY TO WASH THE HAIR

We find you can bring out the beauty of your hair to its very best advantage by washing it with carbox. It makes a very simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleans the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dirt, dandruff, dirt and excess oil, leaving a wonderfully clean, wholesome feeling. After its use you will find that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is never streaked in appearance and is always bright and healthy. So, finally, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. Just use a teaspoonful of carbox, which you can get from any good druggist, dissolve it in a cup of hot water, this makes a full cup of shampoo liquid enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head.

WANTS WOMEN TO GET SHARE OF BENEFITS

Wonderful restorative powers of Trutona praised to help others.

Springfield, O., March 1.—"Yes I am telling them that Trutona did it," said Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, a truthful Springfield woman, who lives at 342 West Jefferson street, in speaking to a friend a few days ago, about the improved condition of her health. She is so enthused over the relief that she has gained from the use of Trutona, that she is telling her neighbors all about the new medicine.

"I've suffered for years from stomach trouble in its worst form. My appetite was as poor as it could be, and everything I would eat would cause gas to form in my intestines, which caused me to have the most distressing pains imaginable. Constipation somewhat aggravated my ailment and I often suffered from dizzy spells and severe headaches.

"The wonderful medicine has sure helped me far beyond my expectations as I don't experience any of the bad after effects of eating a heavy meal, such as I have been unable to do for a long time. The vulgar habit of belching and the bloating pains in my stomach have been entirely eliminated. My bowels are as regular as can be now and my former sick, dizzy headaches have left me. Nothing disturbs my sleep at night as it used to before taking Trutona, and I get up in the morning now feeling fine. This is what they call 'The Perfect Tonic' has done for me and can you blame me for recommending it to pain racked womanhood seeking relief. I had heard a good deal about Trutona recently and that is the reason I finally decided to try it."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Newark at W. A. Erman's.—Adv.

ONE SON KILLED IN FRANCE ANOTHER RETURNS WEAK, SICK

SUCCESSFULLY RESTORES HEALTH OF LAD RETURNED

"I want to say a good word for this new tonic Earle's Hypo-Cod for it helped by boy William wonderfully," declared Mrs. Ella O'Boyle, whose address is given below.

"Now this brave mother received back one of her boys in a sick, weakened condition from camp and sought means to restore his health is a long story. A story goes with that other son who fought and fell over there and then there was another lad of hers who served three enlistments with the British and was in the thick of it all, but in speaking of how she brought back her boy William to robust health she said:

"My druggist recommended Earle's Hypo-Cod as the best thing to build him up and it did it in a wonderful manner. He now has just a splendid appetite and can eat just anything at all and feels so very much stronger and better I am delighted. He was under treatment from a specialist for quite a while but Earle's Hypo-Cod has done more for him than all the medicine and treatments he had before. I cannot help but recommend Earle's Hypo-Cod continued Mrs. O'Boyle, 107 E. Russell Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

If any other parent received a lad back from war in poor health, let them take the advice of this brave, good mother and parents should know that for building up and giving new strength to weak, sick people, Earle's Hypo-Cod is without an equal. Doctors assert it is simply remarkable how quickly it restores the patient.

Go down to the drug store tonight and get a couple bottles of the genuine Earle's Hypo-Cod if you have anyone in the family in a weakened, rundown, half sick condition.

Earle's Hypo-Cod can be secured here at all good druggists and the leading druggists in all nearby towns. Price $1.25 plus 5c war tax.—Adv.

OPTOMETRY—ITS VALUE TO THE PUBLIC.

By O. P. COOK.

Probably no profession has made greater advances during the last few years than Optometry. Certainly none has deserved to advance more.
For many men have devoted a large portion of their time to making Optometry as nearly as possible an exact science.
And while there still may remain much to be done, the profession of Optometry today occupies an honored position in the public estimation, and its practice is regulated by LAW in practically every state.
We desire in a few talks, written as simply as possible, to familiarize the readers of this paper with some of the principal reasons why Optometry is of far greater benefit to the general public than is generally supposed.
And it is more than likely that as we proceed we shall touch on some point of eye health that should interest every clear reader, for when reason we are counting on you to follow closely what we have to say on the subject.

FLOCK NO LONGER PUT TO SLEEP
BY 'PULPIT VOICE' OF PREACHER

Modern minister preaches directly to his congregation, not over their heads.

You wouldn't think of applying the word "jazz" to church sermons. Yet that bit of modern slang is the word which most adequately describes the new manner and voice in which pulpit messages are delivered. "Jazz" made its fundamental, simple, and easy to understand. And that is also a description of the modern sermon.

The old style minister, with his intoning, rhetoric and oratory too often talked over the heads of his congregation. He luffed them into Christianity and sleep at the same time. His sermons were apt to be complex and obscure.

The modern minister presents his message in clear, concise English, and in a natural voice. He talks directly to his congregation and brings them to Christianity thoroughly wide awake.

This change in pulpit methods was uncovered in an Interchurch World Movement survey, and is one of thousands of interesting sidelights disclosed in its work to bring the Protestant churches into closer co-operation.

Discussing the change in the pulpit voice and manner, Dr. Frank Clark English, director of the Interchurch Homes and Hospitals' division, says:

"The old method of 'intoning,' made songs of many parts of the sermon. Authorities on public speaking told us that the easiest way to speak in a half yawn, and some of our old time ministers used the easiest way. I fear. With too much rhetoric and oratory religion seemed other-worldly, and ministers failed to make it applic-able to every-day living of thank-

"Ministers today who are the keenest in mind and who read the signs of the times, speak directly to the people."

"Part of the change in style of delivery," said Dr. Warren H. Wilson of the Presbyterian Board of Missions, "is due to the growing importance of church announce-ments, and the development of business life in the church."

"Forty or fifty years ago, min-isters in New York wore full eve-ning dress in their pulpits Sunday morning and evening and black gowns and read their sermons. Now ministers are taught first to have something to say and then to say it with all the directness they would use in talking to one or two individuals."

NO LONGER HAS PAINS THAT DOUBLED HIM UP

Athens, O. Wm. Hottel tells a story of terrible suffering from 1907 to 1914, and how Dr. Parker's Treatment for Indigestion and Constipation finally made him well. "I couldn't eat or drink water without causing distress; bloated something terrible, which caused rheumatic spells; suffered with rheumatic pains in my entire left side and at times the pains were so severe they doubled me up in a knot. Many and many a night I had to sit up all night, and I fell off more than fifty pounds. I tried Dr. Parker's Treatment. The first box gave me great relief. Three boxes cured me and I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. It has been a wonderful medicine for my wife and two children and should be in every home." Dr. Parker guarantees his Treatment to bring the same relief to you, or your $1.25 will be refunded. Sold by all druggists.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS TALK ON JAPAN IN CHINA

"China hates Japan," declared K. S. Lotz, professor of history at Denison university, in an address "Japan in China" before the Kiwanis club noonday luncheon, Monday. "However," the speaker pointed out, "Japan should have an equal chance to develop the natural resources of China as is enjoyed by France, Great Britain and other nations."

As proof of a natural hatred toward the Japs, the professor pointed out that the Chinese were boycotting the Japanese and throwing their trade to the other nations having rights in China. Japan to possess her existence must have rights in China to help develop the resources, which he pointed out as being very extensive. Japan being a very small country must have expansion. She must either die, secure holdings in other possessions or manufacture and divide her food supplies. The first is impossible, and when Japan starts locating in the Americas, China starts a "yellow peril" cry. She is prohibited from the Canadas, Australia and other nations. Japan prefers to develop the resources of other countries rather than to do extensive manufacturing in her own country," declared the speaker. "This has been her policy for years," the speaker pointed out. "We must take with a grain of salt the writings of Americans on either Japan or China." Professor Lotz, said. "They are usually in the employ of one of the two countries."

The professor concluded his address with an invitation to the Kiwanis club to visit Denison as often as possible. Two new members were introduced yesterday: They are A. C. Krug, cashier of the Per National Bank, and Merrill Montgomery, lumberman. There are now three members on the Kiwanis roster. Charles W. Montgomery, attorney, Ben Montgomery, automobiles and Merrill Montgomery, lumber.

The guests—Rev. Dr. McCormack, the new pastor of the Methodist church and Mr. Henry Montgomery of Pataskala, Pa. B. Winkle and Dr. V. Prior were reported as improving from their recent illnesses.

The attend present Monday was 56 per cent. The Budget team, having a 100 per cent present.

Readers' Viewpoint

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Editor of the Advocate: At intervals during the past 48 years the question of a library building has been discussed and considered. That the discussions have been fruitless is evidenced by the fact that Newark is still without a building for its gradually increasing collection of books. Through the energy and public spirit of the women of the Library Association and the generous response of the public to the annual library tag day, the library has continued to grow in spite of handicaps which would long ago have put an end to any ordinary business enterprise. In spite of insufficient financial support and with wholly inadequate quarters the library has flourished because it has supplied a need. What it could accomplish if not hampered by lack of funds and a properly constructed building would surprise and delight those residents of Newark who are alive to the city's possibilities and opportunities.

That any private house or public building which is at present available in Newark could be made to fit the library's present needs would seem to the writer a lack of vision and a short-sighted view of Newark's future growth. It is sufficiently humiliating to be compelled to acknowledge that Newark, with a population of 35,000 people, has no public library building. That the city will continue to grow and develop is not doubted by anyone interested in its material or educational future. Why content ourselves, then, with a makeshift library which will "do for the present" when a little energy and sacrifice will put us in possession of a library building which will be an aesthetic addition to the city, a proper setting for a collection of books which will grow in size and in value with the years and which will be a business asset to Newark?

With the knowledge that the library must soon vacate its present cramped quarters, the psychological moment to act has arrived. Let us raise a fund sufficient to erect a building to which we can bring with pride, let us require our local taxing body to vote an annual levy large enough to assure its proper maintenance and let us secure to ourselves a library which is the second to none of its size in the state.

CORINNE A. METZ.

HELPING THE NEEDY.

Editor of the Advocate: The case of a widowed mother with several small children as presented in the public press a few days since is one that should appeal to the heartstrings as well as the purse strings of all classes of people.

I think, O men and women, what a spectacle this case presents to our view. A mother, none too strong or rugged, who has borne ten children, only of them a half now very sick and only a few months old, and six others, one of them a building to which we can bring with pride, let us require our local taxing body to vote an annual levy large enough to assure its proper maintenance and let us secure to ourselves a library which is the second to none of its size in the state.

And I know a number of other cases of widows who are kept on the ragged edge with the ever present and ever pressing question how to provide for the children they have borne. Breathe there a man or woman among us who would not desire to help them? Their best? O no heavy burden? For my part, Mr. Editor, I look upon these families as ships raising their flag of distress on the high seas of life and as wounded sailors on life's battle field, and I claim that we should all be not only willing but anxious to save our own souls also by doing whatever it may be "Meet right and our bounden duty to do in their behalf, always remembering the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, it is more blessed to give than to receive.

Don't Miss a Meal Since He Started To Take Redex

Well Known Employee at Fairbanks Company, Springfield, Tells How He Overcame a Severe Case of Stomach Trouble.

"Live not to eat, but eat to live," is generally recognized as being sound logic, but when one suffers from indigestion and can scarcely eat anything at all without distress and suffering the problem of what to eat to maintain strength becomes a very serious problem.

Among many signed statements endorsing Redex is one from Estus Nowland, machinist at the Fairbanks company, who lives at 1591 Warder street, Springfield. He says:

"I suffered from indigestion for a long time. Everything I ate failed to digest, causing distressing pains. I could not sleep well and tossed and rolled in bed and got up every morning feeling all tired out. I was weak and run-down and simply forced myself to work. I had little or no appetite and I lost about eighteen pounds in a few months. I was in this condition a few weeks ago when I started to take Redex. It has helped me wonderfully. I now have a remarkably good appetite and can eat anything with a relish. My wife is a splendid cook and I certainly do justice to my meals and what more I am no longer bothered with indigestion. I sleep well and get up rested. I am gaining weight and strength rapidly and am getting back to my old form. I am heartily glad to recommend Redex. It is a splendid medicine."

Nerve weakness begins in the stomach. Redex is delicately adapted to the needs of this organ and it naturally restores it. Redex is a vegetable stomach food and its nutritive properties build up stomach strength by which nerve strength will be restored. A good healthy stomach guarantees nerve security.

Redex is now being deconstructed at Erman's Arcade Drug Store, where the expert will meet all callers and cheerfully explain the merits of this splendid remedy. Redex can be obtained in Granville at Ullman's Drug Store.—Adv
